Co-branding as Kiplinger's CA-Simply Money

In 1993<sup>[166]</sup> a software package bearing CA's name and that of Kiplinger was announced as available: "the first million copies would be given away" via "the toll-free number 1-800-FREE-MONEY."

It was described by Amazon as "Fastest, Smartest, Easiest Software to Manage Your Personal Finances"<sup>[167]</sup> and unlike its competitors, the initial version bypassed MS-DOS, and supported Windows.<sup>[166]</sup> The software's Unique selling proposition was that it offered "pop-up advice from Kiplinger's."
